Clarifying BAS Reimbursement Eligibility To Accomplish Timely and Efficient 2 GHz Relocation

Under the 800 MHz R&O, Nextel must relocate Broadcast Auxiliary Service (“BAS”) licensees to a new band plan in the 1.9 GHz band within 30 months, and will receive credit for these relocation costs in the 800 MHz “true-up” process. Nextel, MSTV, NAB, and SBE seek clarification on three BAS reimbursement eligibility issues. Clarifications on these issues will facilitate a fair, timely and efficient relocation of incumbent BAS licensees without need for future FCC intervention. An efficient, expeditious BAS relocation process will promote the Commission’s overall public interest objectives as articulated in its 800 MHz Public Safety proceeding.

Clarify Reimbursement Cut-off Date for Existing BAS Licensees

- All BAS facilities licensed pursuant to an initial application filed before November 22, 2004 (publication date of 800 MHz R&O) would be entitled to full reimbursement of retuning expenses, with Nextel receiving full credit for these costs in the post-rebanding true-up process. BAS facilities licensed after that date would be deemed secondary and not entitled to reimbursement.
- Clarifying this eligibility issue would:
 - allow certain newer licensees, including some public broadcasters who have little resources to afford their own relocation, to be reimbursed for reasonable expenses.
 - avoid imposing large burdens on BAS licensees, both large and small, who could not have obtained equipment capable of operating on the new band plan
 - facilitate timely relocation of BAS licensees by helping to ensure that BAS licensees in each market are relocated in a coordinated, efficient manner.
- MSS – BAS initial license cut-off date for eligibility (June 27, 2000) would not change.

Clarify Reimbursement Cut-off Date for New Equipment Purchases

- Clarify that Nextel is not required to reimburse BAS licensees for costs of “incremental” equipment, (i.e., equipment which is being purchased now to supplement existing facilities) which was acquired after November 22, 2004, with the following exception:
 - Nextel would reimburse BAS licensees (and receive credit) for costs of equipment which a BAS licensee acquired after November 22, 2004 but prior the licensee’s relocation date, provided (1) such acquisition was necessary to replace or repair malfunctioning equipment, (2) the licensee notifies Nextel when the need to replace or repair equipment arises, and (3) the licensee returns the replaced equipment to Nextel.

Clarify Reimbursement Eligibility for BAS Service Providers

- Clarify that Nextel may reimburse the relocation costs (and receive credit) for non-licensed entities that provide video services and equipment to BAS licensees as long as they have existing contractual relationships with eligible BAS licensees.
